NAZIS MASS TREMENDOUS FORCE ON BANKS OF UPPER DON

Berlin Denies Tirpitz Either Attacked or Damaged

Russians Resisting Enemy Efforts To Take Bridgeheads

BY CLYDE A. FARNSWORTH
Associated Press War Editor

The future course of the war in Russia, or more immediately, success or failure for Germany's greatest effort thus far this year, is being decided today on the banks of the upper Don, with the enemy striving to exploit new river crossings where earlier bridgeheads had been crushed.

Dispatches from the Russian front said that the Germans thus far had failed to gain any broad foothold east of the Don and that counterattacks endangered the flank of the German wedge to the west, but Vichy relayed a report that the Germans had forced a new crossing, capturing Bobrov, 60 miles southeast of Voronezh.

Remote but related developments were the reported crippling of Germany's mightiest battleship, the 35,000-ton Tirpitz, by a Russian submarine on the Arctic supply route to Russia and a strong attack overnight by the RAF on a center of German naval power, Wilhelmshaven, and nearby Wesermünde.

The German high command denied flatly that the Tirpitz had been either attacked or damaged and spoke in resounding generalities of the battle of the Don.

Its communique referred to the partial success so far as a breach in the Russian front which had "shaken" the Russian line "over a breadth of more than 300 miles."

MINOR RAIDS REPORTED ON DESERT FRONT

British Bombers Smash Axis Vehicles and Landing Grounds Despite Opposition

MALTA AGAIN STORMED

By the Associated Press
With the Axis claiming without details that "some important positions" had been won in Egyptian land fighting and the British reporting only a minor night raid in which several guns were destroyed and some of the enemy killed or captured, the major phases of that conflict were fought in the air.

British fighter-bombers smashed at Axis vehicles and landing grounds throughout yesterday despite dust storms. Eight Axis planes were downed in combat, others were attacked ground and the loss of six British planes was acknowledged.

The Axis, reporting similar action of its own, said that eight

Student Loan Plan Launched

Washington, July 9.—(P)—The government opened its purse today for loans to more than 10,000 college students, men and women, seeking technical or professional degrees in specific fields, to make certain their education is completed in the shortest time possible and applied to the war effort.

Congress provided $5,000,000 for this means of obtaining urgently needed persons trained in engineering, physics, chemistry, medicine (including veterinary), dentistry and pharmacy.

The United States Office of Education said the loans would be made to students needing assistance, who are registered in accelerated programs in degree-granting colleges and universities and whose technical or professional education in these fields can be completed within two years.

Under the accelerated programs the students will go to school 12 months a year—no vacations.

WAR BULLETINS

London, July 9.—(P)—Sir Stafford Cripps announced today that a debate on the shipping situation, outgrowth of the British policy of concealing maritime losses, would be held in secret during the next series of sittings of the house.

London, July 9.—(P)—Reporting open rebellion among Netherlands teachers against the Nazi education system in Holland, the Netherlands News Agency said today hundreds of teachers had been imprisoned or dismissed and numerous institutions, including Delft College, closed in mid-term.

Ankara, Turkey, July 9.—(P)—Foreign Minister Sukru Saracoglu was appointed premier of Turkey today by President Ismet Inonu to succeed the late Premier Refik Saydam.

London, July 9.—(P)—British forces occupied the French island of Mayotte in the Mozambique Channel on July 2, without resistance or casualties, the war office announced today.

New Rationing Orders Issued as Hopes Raise for Resuming Service

RULING ON POLITICIANS

Washington, July 9.—(P)—Early resumption of tanker oil deliveries to Atlantic coast ports was predicted today by Chairman Bailey (D-N.C.) of the senate commerce committee as motorists began registering in 17 eastern states for new gasoline rationing cards.

Bailey told reporters he was confident "it won't be long" until increased air and surface patrol facilities would have nullified the submarine menace so that an average of five tankers could be conveyed safely into east coast ports daily. The average tanker capacity is 84,000 barrels.

In this connection, Bailey pointed to the inclusion by J. R. Parton, director of transportation, of 200,000 barrels of tanker-delivered oil in an estimate of the 1,429,000 barrels said might be transported to the Atlantic seaboard states upon

Two Assigned To Talk With Free French

Washington, July 9.—(P)—The state department announced today the resignation of Admiral Harold R. Stark and Brigadier General Charles L. Bolte as representatives of the United States to consult with the Free French National Committee in London.

The announcement made clear that the move involved no basic change in American policy toward the Free French, by emphasizing the military purpose of the decision.

In a memorandum handed to General Charles De Gaulle in London, the military character of Stark's and Bolte's assignment was stressed and the status of the Free French Committee headed by De Gaulle was classified as "a symbol of French resistance" against Axis aggression.

Admiral Stark is chief of American naval forces in the European waters and General Bolte is the chief of staff of Lieut. Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, commander of American forces in Europe.

Atlantic Sinkings Are Swelled to 348

By the Associated Press
Thirty-six British seamen were saved and four were killed in the torpedoing of a medium-sized cargo ship in the Atlantic May 14, the eighth naval district reported. Destruction of the British craft as well as recent sinkings of a small Latvian merchantman, a Dutch and a Canadian cargo carrier, swelled to 348 the unofficial Associated Press tabulation of United and neutral nation's ship losses in the western Atlantic since December 7.

The abduction of their skipper by a German submarine that sank their vessel by placing a time bomb below decks was disclosed by survivors of a small Latvian merchantman on landing at an east coast port.

HERRON IS SELECTED ALLEGHENY CHAIRMAN

Pittsburgh, July 9.—(P)—County Commissioner John S. Herron won re-election as chairman of the politically-strategic Allegheny county Republican committee last night, defeating Attorney James F. Malone, Jr., by 34 votes.

In quiet, orderly voting, Malone took an early lead by winning the vote of the township and some borough committee members but fell behind in the voting by representatives from the third class cities and Pittsburgh wards.

BOMBER CRASHES IN SOUTHERN CORNFIELD

Smithfield, N. C., July 9.—(P)—A large twin-engine army bomber crashed with a terrific explosion in a cornfield near here yesterday and its occupants, believed to have numbered nine, were killed instantly.

There was no way for civilian officers to identify the burned and mangled bodies, nor to determine whence the plane came. Army authorities delayed identifications until an official investigation.

Lodge is Told To Quit Army

Washington, July 9.—(P)—Secretary of War Stimson said today his letter directing Senator Lodge (R-Mass.) to quit active army service as a major and return to the senate "was not intended to have" any such significance.

"It was a simple letter to a soldier who had performed his service creditably and was faced with two opportunities for service, in the senate and in the field," Stimson told his press conference, in response to a question.

Lodge, who recently returned from active army service in Egypt and who is a candidate for re-nomination, made public the letter, in which Stimson advised that "you will render more service to the American people by performing the important duties of United States senator, rather than devote your energies solely to the purely military phases of the war as a junior officer."

Smirk and Roosevelt Talk at White House

Washington, July 9.—(P)—President Roosevelt, continuing a series of conferences which have brought a stream of New York politicians to the White House this week, talked today with former Governor Alfred E. Smith.

Apparently Smith talked over the gubernatorial situation with the chief executive although he would not say so.

He said that his call at the White House was "more a personal visit than anything else," although he and the president "talked about nearly everything."

A reporter remarked that the conference followed rumors that he was being talked of as the Democratic nominee for governor, but Smith said: "I didn't hear a word around my hotel."

Ickes Renews Warning of a Coal Shortage During Winter

Washington, July 9.—(P)—Interior Secretary Ickes said today there was a growing possibility of a coal shortage next winter, unless the public changes what he described as its attitude of indifference to government appeals for summer purchase and storage of fuel.

"We have less than 60 days left in which sufficient transportation and mine production will be available for stock piling of coal," the fuel coordinator, told his press conference. "We expect conditions to grow tighter in September."

He said that John J. Pelley, pre-

Crowded Interurban Passenger Car and Freight Trolley Crash Head-on At Curve

NUMBER ARE CRITICAL

Norristown, July 9.—(P)—Ten persons were killed and 22 injured in the head-on crash of a crowded interurban passenger car and a freight trolley late yesterday on a curve three and one-half miles north of here.

The heavy, high-floored freight running down grade, literally sheared through nearly a third of the passenger car which was enroute from Philadelphia to Allentown, Pa., with a rush-hour load.

Several of the injured were reported in critical condition at Norristown hospitals. A Philadelphia Red Cross unit which rushed blood plasma for transfusions was credited with saving six lives.

The dead: Henry H. Strunk, 42, Allentown, motorman of the passenger car; Mrs. Martha Clair, 64, Ambler; Miss Mary McCoy, 22, Washington Square.

Mrs. Bertha Thompson, 50, Line Lexington; Mrs. Mollie Dietz, 22, Souderton; Harry Shiffer, 47, Allentown; Miss Catherine L. Nae, 23, Lansdale.

Henry T. Moyer, 46, Souderton; Miss Virginia Wiekell, 19, North Wales; William M. Kelley, 18, North Wales.

The Lehigh Valley Transit Company which operates the rail line announced it was investigating to determine the cause of the crash. Coroner Winslow J. Rushong also began an investigation. At his request, Grover S. Meckley, 54, of Allentown, motorman of the freight trolley, was held without bail on a charge of involuntary manslaughter.

Rushong said he also had directed state police to question the dispatcher of the transit company in an effort to determine how the two cars were sent racing toward each other on a single-track stretch of line.

Meckley said he first saw the passenger car round the curve about 50 yards away on the single track. He threw his car into reverse.

Action Taken By President On Farm Bill

Washington, July 9.—(P)—President Roosevelt made another attempt to persuade congress to break a long deadlock over agricultural department operations, declaring that "our war needs do not permit compromise or partisan dissent."

The issue in matters in disagreement between the senate and the house, he said in a statement, is that of "more abundant production of the things we need."

He added that "we cannot afford to cripple any part of our productive effort with unnecessary legislative shackles."

The presidential statement accompanied his signature of a stop-gap bill which supplied funds for the agricultural department for the month of July. Congress still is wrangling over the department's full year appropriation.

The main points in disagreement are the questions of selling wheat at sub-parity prices for livestock feeding and the size of the appropriation.

MAY SEES END OF WAR THIS YEAR OR NEXT

Washington, July 9.—(P)—Predicting that war would end "probably in 1942 and unquestionably in 1943," Chairman May (D-Ky.) of the house military affairs committee said today there would be no need for the army to induct married men or youths in the 18 and 19 year group.

The information on which he based the prediction, the Kentucky told reporters, was a "military secret," obtained since the recent apparent Russian reverses.

Rail Traffic Is Highest In Many Months

Through End of May Approximately 4,500,000 Troops Transported

GREATER JOB AHEAD

Chicago, July 9.—(P)—In the first five months of 1942 the nation's railroads moved approximately as many troops as they did in the first 13 months of American participation in the World War.

Freight traffic in the same period was the highest on record for any five months.

This report on the tremendous volume of transportation was given today by Ralph E. Clark, Washington, an official of the Association of American railroads in an address prepared for delivery before the Mid-West Shippers Advisory Board.

Clark said that through the end of May approximately 4,500,000 troops, not including those traveling on trolley, were carried by rail within the continental United States. This figure includes more than one ride a man.

Progress, Clark predicted, the carriers' job will become greater.

Clark attributed the sharp climb in rail passenger business largely to troop movements and the diversion of highway travel to the railroads because of the rubber shortage and gasoline rationing.

Passenger business in the first four months of 1942 was 88 per cent greater than in the corresponding period of 1939 and 44 per cent above the same period of 1941.

In addition, he said, the railroads are doing "the greatest freight transportation job in their entire history." Measured according to tonnage.

Heiress Bride Of Movie Star

Hollywood, July 9.—(P)—Movie Star Cary Grant and Woolworth Heiress Barbara Hutton are honeymooning today at an undisclosed mountain retreat.

Their wedding yesterday at Lake Arrowhead caught the film colony napping, but hardly could be regarded as a surprise, for the 39-year-old Bristol, England-born Grant and his bride, one of the nation's richest women, have been inseparable companions for two years. She is 29.

The wedding ceremony, performed by the Rev. M. Paul Romeis, pastor of the San Bernardino Episcopal Lutheran church, lasted six minutes. Only a few close friends were present.

It was Grant's second marriage. Miss Hutton's third. Actress Virginia Cherrill was his first wife. Alexis M'Dianni, self-styled Georgian prince, was Miss Hutton's first husband, but she divorced him in Reno two years later, in 1935, after agreeing to pay him $350,000 a year. Count Hagwitz-Reventlow, wealthy Danish nobleman, was her second mate but the union was dissolved last year by King Christian of Denmark. They have a son, Lance, aged six.

Local Man Is Re-appointed To Vets Post

According to word received here today, J. R. Allen, of this city, has been re-appointed as patriotic instructor of the Veterans of Foreign Wars for the Department of Pennsylvania. This will be Mr. Allen's third consecutive year in the important position.

Announcement of the re-appointment was received by Mr. Allen from C. A. Ghaul, of Harrisburg, department adjutant.

During his previous terms of office Mr. Allen has been very active in his work as patriotic instructor for the V. F. W. in the state, having spoken throughout the district and having written numerous articles in connection with his work.

He stated today that with the country at war, he considers the position a most vital one in keeping patriotism before the veterans' organization.

Certificates Of Birth No Longer Vital

A great reduction in the work of the register and recorder's office here, as well as in the bureau of vital statistics at Harrisburg, is expected as a result of a War Manpower Commission ruling that birth certificates no longer will be needed to prove citizenship for applicants for jobs in plants handling government contracts.

Applicants hereafter need merely sign in the presence of the army or navy plant representative that he is a citizen and that he knows the penalty for misrepresenting his status. Register and Recorder O. E. Loper said today that a great deal of clerical work is required in many cases in order to obtain birth certificates. Much of this will be eliminated by the new ruling, he predicted.

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

The Thompson sub-machine gun is one of the most effective war weapons. The "Tommy" gun was made famous during the Capone racketeer era although it was used somewhat extensively in World War I. It is the same caliber as the machine gun, firing about 600 shots per minute.

The "Tommy" gun is much lighter than the machine gun and is fired from the hip or shoulder and costs $150 each. Most people, buying War Bonds every pay day, could pay for one of these sub-machine guns for the Army or Marine Corps. Help your community top the War Bond Quota. U. S. Treasury Department

In the Movies

By ROBBIN COONS
HOLLYWOOD—Lester Cowan, the producer, is excited about "The Commandos," the C. S. Forster story he bought for pictures even before it appeared in magazine form. John Farrow, directing, is finding "The Commandos" his meat. Paul Muni, who is starring, is excited, too, in a way—a cautious way.

It is not that Muni is still worried that, being dark, he will not be accepted as a Norwegian hero. He and Farrow went down to Los Angeles harbor and talked to heroes of Norway's merchant marine—men who face Quisling, which is death, if captured—and saw that some of these heroes were as dark of skin and hair as Paul Muni.

Muni will tell you that he has no cause for misgivings. He will tell you that Irwin Shaw has done a beautiful job of the script. He will tell you that he sees in "The Commandos" not so much an "action picture" as the story of the stoicism of a people who have suffered invasion and will not bow to it.

Muni, answering questions straightforwardly, talking quietly and earnestly, will make you understand that he can be "excited" about no picture-in-the-making. He can mention without wincing even "Hudson's Bay," his latest and most unfortunate film—it started well, but soon there were signs on the horizon, like storm clouds, and the signs materialized into a new low for the Muni career.

Paul Muni, who was content to be Muni Weisenfreund in the old days and stay in the theater, to wear beards one week and kneepants the next, first came to Hollywood when talking pictures were in their infancy and nobody knew whether the new-born was prodigy or idiot. He made "The Valiant" to critical praise, and then—because Lon Chaney was a make-up king and very, very popular—somebody at the old Fox studio decided to go Lon six better. Muni came forth in "Seven Faces." Muni was in hearty agreement with the studio executive who said the femmes would never take him as a substitute for hand, some Charlie Farrell, and he retreated to New York. He had made $750 a week, more money than he'd dreamed of, and he and Bella Finkle, his wife, knew so little about spending it that they invested it in stocks—$22,000 worth.

CAME 1929, and they were back on Broadway, broke. A new "cycle" had hit Hollywood. James Cagney in "Public Enemy," Edward G. Robinson in "Little Caesar," Gangsters, Howard Hughes wanted Paul Muni to do "Scarface." Muni, no handsomer, asked $25,000. An agent of Hughes offered $15,000. Then his wife settled for $22,500.

And so "Scarface" became a hit that still plays, and Paul Muni became a star—a star who, understandably, cannot become "excited" over a new role.

The age group 15 to 19 years now contains more persons than any other 5-year age period, according to 1940 census figures.

"Niagara", of War of 1812, Reconstructed

Photos by Penna. Department of Commerce

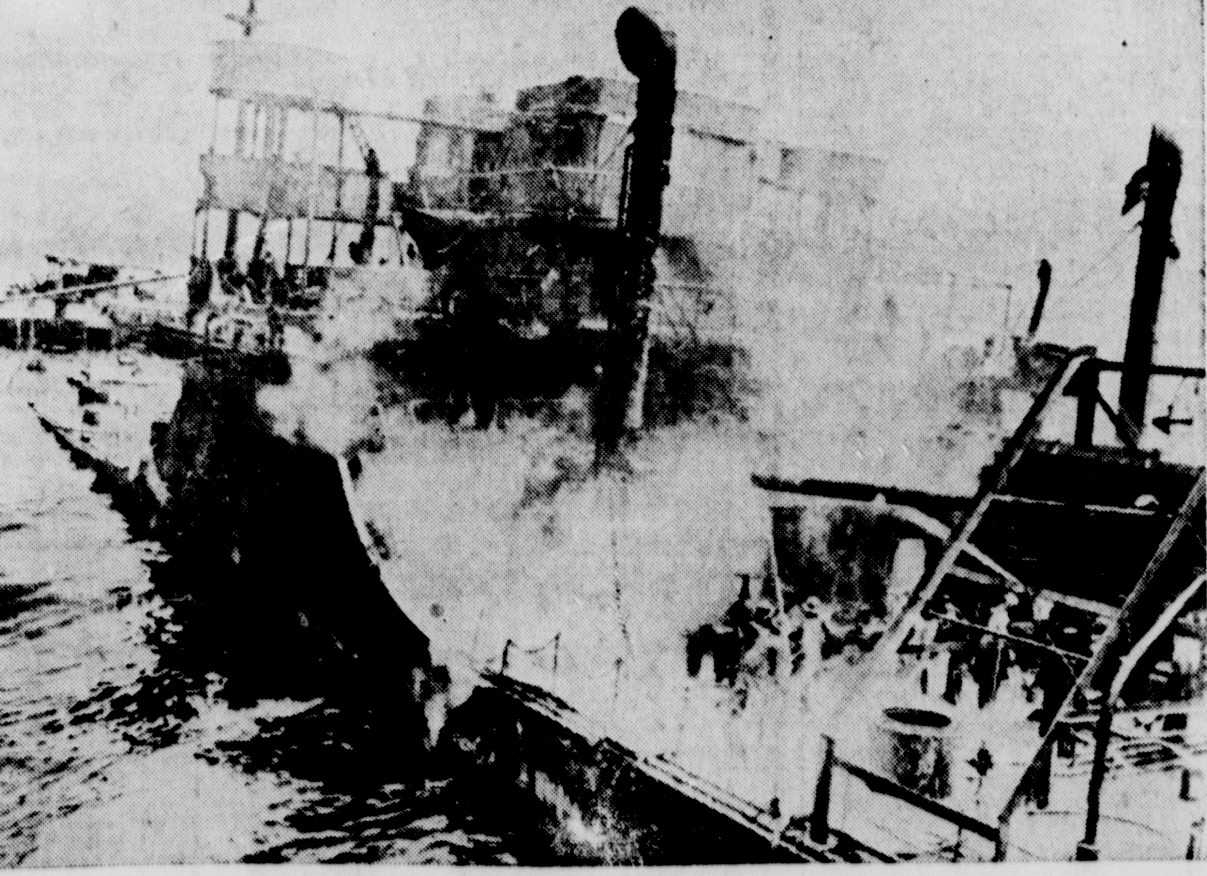

Reconstructed again, the famous, old "Niagara" will find a permanent berth on the Lake Erie waterfront. The vessel was Commodore Perry's flagship in the Battle of Lake Erie. It was reconstructed and made a trip on the lake in 1913—the 100th anniversary of the battle. But it fell into decay. Now the second reconstruction process is about completed. It will be fitted with masts, the old cannon and other accoutrements. Inset, photo shows ship as it appeared under sail in 1913.

BLACKOUT LESSONS
In connection with the announcement by the chairman of the Warren County Defense Council yesterday that there would be a surprise blackout before the end of July, it is interesting to note that State Civilian defense officials are agreed that some changes should be made in the system before another is held.

According to Dr. A. C. Marts, executive director of the State Defense, three things stand out as a result of the recent dim-outs:

1. There still are not enough sirens or whistles in many cities for the alarm to reach all the people. A way must be found also to spread the alarm to people in rural areas.
2. Councils of Defense are handicapped by not knowing what industrial plants in their communities are under blackout control of the War and Navy Departments.
3. A small percentage of the people still refuse to take blackouts seriously and to make the necessary preparations.

The director expresses the belief that the recent test will spur more people to prepare more fully for the next time. He promises that steps will also be taken to improve the alarm system and to clarify questions about war plants.

In the meantime it is not too early for citizens of the borough and county to start planning on how to participate in the surprise blackout to a still greater extent than they did during the dusk-to-dawn test of two weeks ago.

SNEEZE BUG COMING
Here's a timely and unpleasant warning that is offered by an exchange:
Look out, everybody! Kochia scoparia is coming.
This is not a Japanese bomber, but to some people it will seem just as bad. Its other name is tumbleweed, one of the ball-like plants that break loose from their roots, roll with the wind across farms and pile up against barbed wire fences. The pollen it leaves will cause hay fever sufferers to sigh for the good old ragweed.

Kochia scoparia started in the west, and is heading east. The Chicago-St. Louis line has experienced it, and at last accounts it had got as far as Indianapolis.
Just what is to be done about it is not known. But any hay fever victim will tell you that the world has already got enough troubles without a new weed to stir up the old ailment.

ADVERTISING KEY TO FREEDOM
"Newspaper advertising must be continued if America is to keep its free press in wartime," said J. Howard Pew, prominent oil executive, in a recent declaration to a gathering of newspaper editors.

Mr. Pew looks upon advertising as the key to American freedom. "Without such a broad foundation of economic support our press would be dependent upon the favors of politics and subsidies of government, like practically all of the press of continental Europe . . .
advertising reflects the activities of our system of free competitive enterprise, gives our press a broad basis of economic support that it can afford and can dare to be independent."

In a few sentences Mr. Pew has outlined the cause of a free press in a system of free economic enterprise as well as it can be stated. Americans will appreciate this clear statement of the importance of the relation of advertising to the free press.

It is quite apparent from the number of "flats" that have been observed on cars in and about Warren lately Uncle Sam will acquire a lot of lemons if he starts out to confiscate tires.

Won't be much trouble in the average Warren home getting the kids up tomorrow morning.

Keep those items coming about "Boys in the Service!"
The department has grown to be one of the most popular in the Times-Mirror.

For the next forty-eight hours, so far as Warren kiddies are concerned, the weatherman is on the spot.

T-H-O-U-G-H-T-S

thy whole body shall be full of light.—Matthew 6:22.

WASHINGTON IN WARTIME

By JACK STINNETT
WASHINGTON — Among the heroes of this war, give a thought to the scientists in the Department of Agriculture.

In peacetime, they lead a comparatively simple life. They try to make something out of what we have too much of, and improve production of what we don't have enough of.

Multiply those problems by 1,000 and you'll have what they are up against today.

Under censorship, I can't mention names or processes. Either would give the saboteurs an inkling of where to start. But some of the story can be told now.

SOME of these days very soon, for example, we may have a cotton-filled "sandbag", cotton plastics for blackout shades; turpentine smoke screens; resin gas masks for animals.

Staple cotton (instead of lin-ters) soon may be used for smokeless powder in big guns, for anti-aircraft shells and even rifles.

Forestry products soon may be used in place of aluminum for planes; wood cellulose in explosives; charcoal in gas masks; fire resistant woods in hundreds of war materials and as substitutes for raw cork.

Any time now there may be a brand-new canning material, something previously undreamed of.

New insecticides (to replace those imported) may be on the way.

New turfs (grasses) are being developed to withstand moisture airplane landings and to stand down dust which often is a give-away to enemy scouting planes.

AGRICULTURE is one of the key agencies in the allocation of food, training centers, flying fields, artillery and bombing zones. It has a big hand in locating new war industries, and has one of the chief forces for deconcentration of military production.

Leather is becoming more resistant to wear and water. There are new substitutes for hides, leather and tanning materials.

The technical staff of developments in dehydration of meats, fruits, vegetables and dairy products hasn't even been told in part.
Dehydrated beef now can be reduced to a third of its original weight, and "re-hydrated" into toothsome hamburgers.

Dried eggs and powdered milk are rapidly becoming our greatest food exports.

After the war, the fact that moths starved to death trying to eat woolen uniforms may be bigger news to the average housewife than the terms of the peace treaty.

In the roots of sweet potatoes,
there is the same kind of starch that formerly came from our vanished supply of tapioca; cotton fabrics now can be made resistant to mildew.

All these are just a beginning.
Other items might be mentioned;
scores can't.

But the scientists at Agriculture are wearing the haggard look and the "tan" that comes from midnight oil. They can't find a substitute for either of those.

MAN ABOUT MANHATTAN

By GEORGE TUCKER
NEW YORK—There is a sign in the New York Museum of Science and Industry that says:
"Versailles — Here begins a story of how free nations fell into life and death peril. . . ."

After you read this sign, if you turn your eyes slowly to the right, you will see a pictorial display that is the accumulated steps—some of them political blunders, others historically important of a high dramatic quality—of the flow of events that began when the Versailles treaty was signed and ended with Japanese bombs falling over Pearl Harbor.

Then, at the end of the display, is another sign that is President Roosevelt's Prayer For Peace, and in it is the significant line: "Grant us faith and understanding to cherish all those who fight for freedom as if they were our brothers."

THIS is a sobering display. You didn't think so much of the pictures themselves, when they appeared back in the twenties, back in the early thirties, and now. But taken together, they add up to an awesome total.

You can see the signers of the Versailles treaty, who hoped for lasting peace, shaking hands with each other after their signatures had been affixed to the documents. . . . You can see crowds clamoring through the streets of Berlin. . . . You can see Hitler upon his election as Chancellor of Germany. . . . You can see the Kaiser fleeing to Doorn, the assassinating of a Yugoslav king, a harassed Scapellato pleading at Geneva, Franco leading his rebel army, King George dead in London, Hitler and Mussolini forming a pact, Hitler and Matsukata forming another pact, the "impregnable" Maginot line, with its next little cement pill boxes and its yawning guns. . . . It's all there, from Doorn to Dunkirk, from Russia to Rangoon. . . . I'd say maybe there are 50 pictures, certainly no more than fifty. . . . But they tell a story. They make you think.

HERE is a little personal note that can bear telling. I suppose, without anyone raising objection. . . . In Tommy Dorsey's orchestra are 30 men and a girl.
That makes 31 musicians. But on Tommy's payroll are 32 names.
It's explained this way: Bunny Berigan's name remains on the payroll, though Bunny himself, that ace of hot trumpet players, is dead. His salary goes on just the same, to his widow and two kids.

Dorsey, by the way, travels so constantly that he plays solos to his pack of hounds, just so they won't forget him. Everytime he gets home he surrounds himself with yelping mutts and gives them something sweet on the old slide trombone. Now, when someone puts on one of Tommy's records, the pack goes crazy. They think the "Old Massa" is just around the corner.

The Rev. and Mrs. Howard Morton and family of the United Brethren church, arrived home from a visit with relatives in Union City.

Frank J. Wallis, of Harrisburg, governor of the Pennsylvania district, Kiwanis International, will be honor guest at the tenth anniversary party of the Warren Kiwanis Club next Tuesday at the Outing Club.

Harrisburg, July 9 (T)— Skirts appeared in the ranks of Harrisburg traffic police for the first time Tuesday night as 12 ci-

A transfer was made of four men now working with the W. P. A. on the sidewalks of Youngsville to the W. P. A. work in connection with the sewer system of the town.

LIGHTNING STRIKES

During the severe storm of Sunday evening when, due to electric disturbances part of the town was in darkness because electricity was off, the home of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Boland, of Bates street, was struck by lightning. The fire company was called out but very little damage was done, though the electric charge following an aerial wire into the house which crossed a gas line pipe and electric sparks were thrown about the house quite freely.

HOLLYWOOD SIGHTS AND SOUNDS

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Glamour factory at war: What's happened to Victor McLaglen's "private army" since the war?

It's still around, says Vic, and functioning—what there is left of it.

Vic's "army" was formed several years ago by the big, burly actor who, once a soldier himself, never got over loving parades. McLaglen sank $150,000 into a clubhouse and grounds and the promotion of sports and parades. There was never a patriotic procession, in his army's heyday, that didn't have one or more units of the McLaglen "Lighthouse" gang in line—with big Vic usually leading the column. There were men and women members, with cavalry, motorcycle corps, marksmanship teams, all sorts of strenuous activities.

THERE was so much of it that once, in the pre-war era of confusion when a lot of people were calling a lot of other people Communists or Fascists or both, big Vic had to hear whispers that he was up to no good with his "army." "It's sport," muttered Vic when he heard about it. "It's healthy, it's clean, it's good."

And the Lighthouse kept right on. Came the war, and there seemed to be a point to it after all—a point besides the love of parades.

"Almost all our younger men are in the service now," says Vic. "I don't know exactly how many, but the remaining ranks are pretty thin. What's left are the older ones and the men with dependents. We carry on after a fashion, and we're thinking of offering ourselves to the governor as a state militia unit."

BETWEEN pictures, McLaglen spends most of his time on his ranch where, this year, on his output of pigs, grapes and figs he expects to gross $35,000—a tidy reward for a "Victory Garden."

McLaglen is in "China Girl," war—backgrounded, at present and wants to do more war pictures. Even professionally, he loves a parade and playing soldier.

Hollywood, after seven months of war, is a strikingly different community, and I believe even that some of the confusion has gone from it under stress of war conditions. There is some confusion over details, there is none whatever over purpose. And from this corner it seems that our town's nerves have been quieted by finding jobs, and many jobs, to do.

During the days of the fall of France, Hollywood could easily have rated tops in hysteria. Today, with the U. S. actually at war and the Pacific coast a possible war theater, the town keeps working along. Along with its special war assignments and industrial war worries, Hollywood takes a full part in civilian defense activities, in canteen work and knitting, in first aid, in bond drives and service campaigns—just like your own home town. Every week the service flags on the lots get more stars, more familiar faces are gone.

This alone could be the cue for a big emotional scene—but I'm afraid our town's too darned busy with a job.

WINS NAVY CROSS

Washington, July 9—(AP)—Lieutenant Commander Thurlow Week Davison, 36, of New Hope, Pa., has received the Navy Cross for distinguished service in the Philippines.

The citation accompanying the decoration said the medal was bestowed for "heroism in combat with the enemy. While exposed to frequent dive-bombing attacks by the Japanese air forces, he directed anti-aircraft batteries and conducted operations of strategic importance involving hazardous missions such as to bring great credit to his command and the United States Navy."

DELICIOUS VITAMINS!

Yours in Oranges

THE NATURAL WAY
You know you like oranges! But do you know how they help you get the vitamins and minerals you need?
They're first in vitamin C. And they also contain vitamins A, B₁ and G, calcium and other minerals.

DON'T TAKE A CHANCE

You don't "store up" vitamin C, so you need it every day. Without plenty of citrus fruits, the chances are you won't get enough to feel and do your best.

Play safe. Have orange juice for breakfast. Put oranges in lunch boxes, salads and sugar-savory desserts. Ask for trademarked "Sunkist" Oranges—finest from 14,500 cooperating growers. Buy in quantities; they keep.

Let me tell you about . . . LOBLAWS

I shopped around when Jim and I were first married. We had a budget for food and were interested in saving. It didn't take me long to find out that in buying all our food at Loblaws that we could accomplish what we were trying to do without sacrificing quality. Yes, it was the fine quality of Loblaws' foods that impressed me, and the fact that such fine foods could be so reasonable was almost unbelievable. In a nutshell that's the story I would like to have everyone know plus the fact that if you want to make your shopping a pleasure why not go where every convenience of self-service is provided in spotlessly clean white surroundings.

Wallace Brothers Circus To Be Presented Here Tomorrow

Much resembling a vast army of the movies or even a portable city, Wallace Brothers Circus will become "annexed" to Warren for one gala, gorgeous, golden day tomorrow with a veritable blue book registry of the world's foremost celebrities in the realm of sawdust and spangles. Two performances will be given tomorrow, at 2 and 8 p. m., with the tents scheduled to open an hour before.

There will be cavorting clowns, internationally famous trainers with their animal subjects, daring acrobats, dainty maidens of the tight wire, wizards of the slack and high wires—all tutored in the most difficult feats since childhood.

The big show is expected to arrive at the break of dawn and scores of gaudily painted dens, cages, tableaux and wagons will unfold unbelievable grandeur as the hundreds of busy circus workers unload the glittering contents and raise the acres of snowy white tents into the sky with amazing rapidity.

The blare of bands, the familiar strains of the capoe, the small of new mown hay and weird noises of scores of jungle creatures will denote that "Circus Day" is once again in our midst.

The circus will open its mighty doors to the public one hour early to enable everyone to inspect the large menagerie and horse fair.

This is the same circus which appeared in Warren two years ago under the auspices of the Warren County Shrine Club.

Finest Salad Crops are Harvested in the Fall

A GOOD SELECTION OF VEGETABLES FOR SALADS. LETTUCE, CUCUMBER, PEPPER, TOMATO AND CELERY CABBAGE.

Victory Gardeners will find that the finest salad crops of the whole year are harvested in the fall.

Not only lettuce can be grown then, but Chinese cabbage and chicory, both of which are at their best after a light frost and possess a flavor far superior to lettuce.

Advice is often given to sow seed for fall crops in July. But it is a mistake to wait too long. Summer sowing is not the easy task that spring sowing is. The cool, moist weather which seeds like best for germination cannot be counted on.

As a rule, summer sowing should be deeper than winter sowing. A trench a few inches deep should be scooped out, and the ground soaked thoroughly by running water into it. Seed should be sown at the bottom and covered more deeply than usual. Do not fill the trench, but leave it to catch dews and light rains.

If the ground is very hard and dry and the days are hot it may be wise to cover the seed bed with cloth or even with paper in order to check evaporation until the seeds have sprouted. Seeds put into the ground without precautions to provide moisture are very likely to remain inactive, and a disappointed gardener will declare that this is about midsummer sowing is wrong.

Cauliflower, brussels sprouts, head lettuce, kohlrabi, kale, spinach, turnips, carrots, beets, peas, beans and many other vegetables planted for a fall crop with unusual assurance this year of harvest them all.

The great advantage of fall salad crops over those of spring is that there is no temptation to go to seed. Instead of lengthening days and warmer weather as the crops mature, the days grow shorter and cooler. Either the temperature or the duration of daylight gives plants the signal to go to seed in the summer time and the fall this signal is not received. So head lettuce goes on heading and Chinese cabbage makes heads.

And we enjoy the finest salad of the year until killing frosts arrive. Chicory, or endive, is especially fine fall salad. Its bitterness disappears with the light frosts.

FANS SEE SIZZLER AS EAGLES NIP STONEHAM NINE, 2-1

Pollock Clouts Homer In 2nd Frame; Irvine And Hospital Tonight

A fair-sized crowd saw an old-fashioned finish to the most exciting game of the season as the Eagles won a 2-1 decision over Stoneham in the second half opener last evening.

Typical of the "good old days" was a spirited and highly contested pitchers' duel between Bob Baker of the Eagles and Stoneham's ace, Craig Bennett, and to bring a hair raising climax, even a brief bit of fistfights was thrown in for good measure.

The Flock and the Stoneham swatters fought on even terms through seven of the nine innings played, and a scratchy infield hit batted across the winning run in the eighth with two men retired.

In the last half of the ninth, Manager Ray Bennett rifled a single into right field and stole second base. Craig Bennett came to bat after Blume was fooled by three strikes off Baker's trusty right arm, and the youthful Stoneham tosser cracked two line fouls out along the right field line.

The first foul was an obvious one, falling several feet outside the line, but the second dropped about a foot away from the strike and Bennett hustled all the way to second base, only to have to try it all over for a third time.

Baker used plenty of medicine in the following pitch, and Bennett swung into thin air. Walking away from the plate, excited and disappointed, he made an uncultured remark to Plate Umpire Harry Wooster. Blood pressures rose to the boiling point within ten seconds and the entire Stoneham team was joined by the Flock as Wooster and the Bennetts wrestled on the ground. No one was hurt, and every fan probably was delighted at the decision went to the Eagles despite the fireworks, which were ended by an apology to Wooster from the Stoneham tosser, who really isn't the wildest he momentarily became following the third strike.

Baker turned in one of the classic mound performances seen this summer in limiting the losers to three hits, and a single unearned run. Sparky Pollock brought home the first Eagles tally unaided when he drove a 425-foot home run into left-center field in the second inning.

The payoff came in the top half of the eighth when Albaugh grounded out, Moose Germonto doubled, went to third on another infield out by Pollock, and scored when Shortstop Arnie Edmiston and Second Baseman Dick Johnson collided near the keystone sack

Struthers-Wells handed the Sons of Italy their second successive loss of the second half in the City Softball League last night and chalked up 1 in the victory column for themselves by a 12-6 score in a game played on the west side diamond.

A. Bonavita and "Jiggs" Bonavita smacked home runs for Sons of Italy and Struthers respectively, and a four-run rally in the top of the eighth innings really decided the contest in favor of Struthers.

Don Hoffman pitched for the winners and allowed but six hits but five errors aided the S. of I. in collecting their six-run total.

JUNIOR DAVIS CUP MEET WITH CANADA

New York, July 9.—(P)—While many sports are curtailing their programs because of the war, the United States Lawn Tennis Association is offering something new—an invitation junior Davis Cup series with Canada on Aug. 22-23.

Five United States juniors will compete against a like number of Canadian youths at the swank Seignior Club, some 50 miles from Ottawa.

In the United States more persons die at age 71 than at any other age, except in the first year of life.

Buccos, Phils Offer Relief Fund Contest

Pittsburgh, July 9.—(P)—The sixth-place Pirates and last place Philadelphia Phillies do their bit for the Army and Navy Relief Fund tonight and to ensure packed stands they've billed about everything on the evening's program except a hog-calling contest.

Hailed as "six hours of fun," the game and sidepiece entertainment will dish up a little of everything from vaudeville to a track meet.

Some 30,000 persons, including about 20,000 who won't care much what the score of the game is, are expected at Forbes Field for the benefit, says John Hernon, chairman of the Pittsburgh Chapter of the Baseball Writers Association and head of the committee in charge of arrangements.

Beginning at 5:30 p. m. there'll be a continuous round of performances and horseplay until game time three hours and 45 minutes later.

BANK SHOTS

BY FLOYD PASSINGER, Sports Editor

Good pitching for the most part, fine fielding, and a few outstanding base knocks tossed in, made the history-making first Service Stars-Major League All-Star Champions game in Cleveland a huge success and a spectacle that carved a big niche in the record books of our national pastime. . . . From the time a portion of Uncle Sam's army presented a mechanized drill for the bulging crowd, until the final out was made, every fan in the huge Municipal Stadium was thrilled continuously. . . . Even a practice blackout tended to add color to the show. . . . Highlights of the game itself were three base hits by Ted Williams, George McQuinn and Ken Keltner, all for the American Leaguers, two base hits by Phil Rizzuto and Mueller and Cool Travis in the latter two Service Stars. . . . Humorous sides that arose in the company we were keeping. . . . Dr. J. R. Elliott, Myron Jewell, Mike Blech, George Huthberg and Fritz Ebel were our companions, and as soon as we hit the Ohio state line and passed the first gasoline station the good doctor demanded a reason for motor fuel being four cents cheaper in that state than in our own, especially in our community where it is refined. . . . To him, that was more important than the all-star game, but he did marvel at the play of Bobby Doerr around second base. . . . Jewell asked us if the Cleveland park reminded one of Russell Field, and what can you say to a question like that? . . . Blech was the group comedian and from the game, but he was more excited than a kid during the fracas. . . . I was impressed by the umpires, especially the National League's Ballabant, but now he swears he's found another blind official besides himself. . . . Huthberg simply enjoyed the game while Ebel ditted on that point, but did a swell job of chaffering to and from. . . . We hit the local city line on the return trip at five a. m. . . . Anyway, it was fun.

New York and Cleveland battle under the lights in the next night game in the stadium Tuesday, July 21, and with 62,094 eyes reading the ads on the outfield fence the crowd should be one of the biggest the Indians will realize this year. . . . Only decision we didn't like, and one which they tell us even confused Waite Hoyt, who was broadcasting the play-by-play at the time, was Tommy Henrich's easy bonder to Pitcher Johnny Rigney in the fifth inning which seemed to be an obvious error, but on which Henrich was credited with a hit. . . . Rigney grabbed at the ball three times without success in picking it off the ground, while Tommy sped safely down the first base line. . . . It was the only near error in the ball game. . . . Ted Williams walked on McQuinn's duplicate knock. . . . On to other sports, now, however. . . . Looks like the Country Club's best linksmen will meet a hand picked team of par-busters for sure this weekend in the permitting (that old phrase again), the Hospital and Forge are set to give local fans a real treat again tonight on Russell Field. . . . Tomorrow night it's Stoneham against the Forge. . . . Stoneham, incidentally, will meet the Oiler Juniors, a classy outfit from Oil City, here on Russell Field in an amateur contest Sunday, July 19, according to present plans, and will play at Oil City on another date. . . .

LON WARNEKE IS AGAIN IN CUB UNIFORM

Chicago, July 9.—(P)—There is a regular starting role awaiting lean Lon Warneke, 33-year-old National League pitching veteran, whose return to Chicago's Cubs after five and a half years comes as much of a surprise as did his trade to the St. Louis Cards in 1936.

"I'll use him right away and I'll use him regularly," Manager Jimmy Wilson said today. "We've needed another starting pitcher all along."

To which General Manager James Gallagher added: "He has an arm that still has some pitching skill left in it. He is a steady workman and our pitching staff needs steady."

Warneke himself, in his 12th year as a major leaguer and with a record of 183 victories against 108 defeats, had this to say: "Sure, I'm glad to be coming back to my old stomping grounds. Although that old fireball is gone, I still think I'm a pretty fair chucker."

Warneke was to arrive today. Announcement yesterday by St. Louis officials that Warneke had been claimed at the waiver price of $7,500 surprised even the Cubs. Gallagher said he had put in a claim several days ago, but had heard nothing since.

Caseys Wallop Sons Of Italy, 19 to 12

The second half of the City Softball League opened Tuesday evening when the Knights of Columbus started successfully, winning a 19-12 decision from Sons of Italy in a true slugfest.

Each team collected 15 hits, there were two home runs by Shamshala and Vesco, and the losers were forced to come from behind to win.

Box scores: K. of C. 003 322 052-19
S. of I. 512 101 020-12
Batter: Blech and Father Mitchell; Greto, Andrea and Salerno.

To Stage Team Golf Meet at Club Sunday

It was announced today that, as far as plans had materialized, there definitely would be a team golf match staged Sunday at the Conevango Valley Country Club between a picked star-studded cast of club linksmen and a hand-picked crew of county axes who are not members of the club but who have thrown a challenge against a club team.

Members of the two teams were not definitely decided upon today, but the list of golfers who will play in the affair is expected to be complete by tomorrow, it was stated.

round match play in the Western Amateur Championship.

The curly-haired corporal, stationed at Fort Wright here in the Air Force, was paired off with Otto Rosand of this city and barring nothing short of a tremendous upset, was expected to breeze through the opener of the "sudden death" competition.

SHARON CLUB AND FORGERS MEET SUNDAY

A strong and talented Sharon Westinghouse aggregation will provide the opposition for the National Forge Baseball Club at Irvine this Sunday as the Morris-men make their third start on their home hunting grounds and seek another victory for their record book.

If the homeowners are successful tonight against the Hospital in their first encounter of the second half in the Sunset League, they will have counted 10 triumphs without defeat this season and an additional decision in their favor Sunday would run the string to 11.

Sharon boasts one of the strongest independent teams in that section of the state and will come to Wilder Field with an enviable escutcheon, which they will be out to improve.

Along with the announcement of the game today and other minor details, included being the fact that this week's game will also start at four o'clock as have the first two encounters, was a special notice made by Business Manager Jimmy Kanne that prices would be reduced, beginning Sunday, for the remainder of the summer.

Admission for men to this weekend's contest will be dropped from 50 cents to 40 cents, while the ladies' admission will remain the same at 30 cents.

More details concerning the personnel of the Sharon club are expected to be available tomorrow, according to Kanne's statement today.

MRS. MURDOCK TAKES A CASE

by George Harmon Coxe

Chapter 17
Ultimatum

THE hot tub soon absorbed the weariness from Delia's legs, but as she lay there soaking, the sense of bodily contentment was gradually counteracted by a growing anxiety.

It was after six now, and until five thirty she had been tramping the streets in search of that elusive hat which was to match Joyce's brown suit. In the end they had found one at Lucille's, and Joyce had been dropped at her apartment with the promise that Delia would be back at seven for dinner. During that time she had not thought much about the murder of Perry Clarke; now those neglected fears again were on the prowl.

She was she told herself, being silly. Actually it was nothing but her imagination that bothered her, and this was not very flattering to Ward. He had gone to see Clarke, to be sure; he had wanted those clippings, had argued about them at Hester's and had gone there last night to get them. He had been the one who had knocked at the door. It must have been his voice she heard while she was taking the envelope from the bedroom. . . .

She sat up, slapping hard at the water in anger and exasperation at herself for thinking about it. The splash rained against the wall and spread upon the floor and she stood up and reached for the towel as she stepped to the bath mat.

Why must she torture herself this way? Why couldn't she trust him when she knew nothing at all except the fact that he had been in Clarke's apartment? She knew, of course, the answer to this too. She was afraid. She had the wind up and couldn't do anything about it. Never in all her life could she remember happier than that of the last six months, and the thought of losing it was terrifying.

The knocking on the door cut sharply across her thoughts and she realized that, except for the towel in her hand, she was quite naked. She smiled at herself and reached for her robe, a spark of quick excitement touching off her hopes.

Ward? It must be. No one ever called on her, and although he usually telephoned before he came he probably had just stopped off on his way home.

The Little Man
SHE took off the rubber cap and shook out her hair, stepped into her mules and tightened the robe about her. Passing through the bedroom she heard the knocking again, but stopped at the vanity to slap on some powder and inspect herself.

The knocking was now insistent and she called: "Just a minute," as she scuffled across the living room, unlocked the door, opened a tentative crack and peered out.

The man stood very close to that small opening, not Ward, but someone she had never seen before: a short, solid looking man, with nondescript clothes and a beat-stained gray hat pushed back from his forehead.

"Hello," he said.

"How do you do," Delia said, thinking about the chain-stop Ward Allen had insisted she install and wishing she had fastened it.

"Talk to you a minute?"

"What is it you want?"

"I want to talk to you. About last night."

Something tightened up in Delia and her hand was cold on the doorknob.

"The name doesn't matter," the man said. "It's what I've got to say that counts."

"But I don't understand. If you could tell me what—"

"Not from out here talking through a crack in the door."

"Couldn't you come back some other time?"

"No."

"Who are you?"

"I'm not supposing anything. If you don't deliver the police get tipped off. I think they'd like to know where you were at eleven o'clock last night. I think they'd like to know who else was there."

He put on his hat and went to the door, opening it before Delia could reach him. In the hall he turned.

"You've got until noon. Play ball with me or I'll turn you in."

Why must she torture herself this way? Why couldn't she trust him when she knew nothing at all except the fact that he had been in Clarke's apartment? She knew, of course, the answer to this too. She was afraid. She had the wind up and couldn't do anything about it. Never in all her life could she remember happier than that of the last six months, and the thought of losing it was terrifying.

The knocking on the door cut sharply across her thoughts and she realized that, except for the towel in her hand, she was quite naked. She smiled at herself and reached for her robe, a spark of quick excitement touching off her hopes.

Ward? It must be. No one ever called on her, and although he usually telephoned before he came he probably had just stopped off on his way home.

The Little Man
SHE took off the rubber cap and shook out her hair, stepped into her mules and tightened the robe about her. Passing through the bedroom she heard the knocking again, but stopped at the vanity to slap on some powder and inspect herself.

The knocking was now insistent and she called: "Just a minute," as she scuffled across the living room, unlocked the door, opened a tentative crack and peered out.

The man stood very close to that small opening, not Ward, but someone she had never seen before: a short, solid looking man, with nondescript clothes and a beat-stained gray hat pushed back from his forehead.

"Hello," he said.

"How do you do," Delia said, thinking about the chain-stop Ward Allen had insisted she install and wishing she had fastened it.

"Talk to you a minute?"

"What is it you want?"

"I want to talk to you. About last night."

Something tightened up in Delia and her hand was cold on the doorknob.

"The name doesn't matter," the man said. "It's what I've got to say that counts."

"But I don't understand. If you could tell me what—"

"Not from out here talking through a crack in the door."

"Couldn't you come back some other time?"

"No."

"Who are you?"

He put on his hat and went to the door, opening it before Delia could reach him. In the hall he turned.

THE man did so and she crossed to the sofa. He sat on the edge of the chair, leaning forward a little, studying her, holding his hat so that it dangled between his knees. His face was round and shiny and unworried; his hair was thin and straight. Only his eyes served to warn her that for all his outward complacency there was something about him that could be hard and shrewd and ruthless. Small, and partly hidden by their fleshy setting, those eyes were steady and fathomless, revealing nothing.

"Now," Delia said. "What was it?"

"You went to see Clarke last night. You went to his apartment."

Delia drew a breath. "Did I?"

"A little before eleven. You weren't the only one, understand, but you were the first."

She waited, trying to keep her smile, fighting hard to meet the announcement calmly, knowing all the time that if this man knew she had been to see Clarke, he must know that Ward had also called.

"And Clarke had some papers," the man went on. "Somebody took them. The police didn't find them."

"You're from the police?"

"No."

"Then I don't understand—"

"You will, Clarke had some papers. Somebody lifted them. Either you or somebody else."

Delia had control of herself now. "But if you're not from the police," she said, "how do you happen to know so much about it?"

"You were there, weren't you?"

Delia surveyed him coldly and said nothing. The man bunched his lips and stood up.

"Okay," he said flatly. "I'll put it this way. You've got until tomorrow noon."

"I'm afraid I don't follow you."

"Until tomorrow noon. I'll telephone you here. Either you've got those papers or you know who has. Get them. I'll tell you what to do with them when I call."

But suppose.

"I'm not supposing anything. If you don't deliver the police get tipped off. I think they'd like to know where you were at eleven o'clock last night. I think they'd like to know who else was there."

He put on his hat and went to the door, opening it before Delia could reach him. In the hall he turned.

"You've got until noon. Play ball with me or I'll turn you in."

Local Police Officer Will Join Service

Two Warren county men were accepted by enlistment in the U. S. Navy by recruiters during their weekly visit here yesterday. It was announced by Stanley Lock, recruiting officer from the Jamestown sub-station. They are Geary Willis Bean, 620 Water street, member of the local police force, and Lloyd Rexford Price, Jr., of R. D. 1, Bear Lake.

Patrolman Bean was in the navy for four years, being honorably discharged December, 1922. While in the navy he was connected with the submarine service. He was accepted yesterday for Class V-6.

Price was accepted for Class V-6 as a hospital apprentice, second class.

Both will go to Buffalo to take their final examinations. The navy recruiters will return to Warren next Wednesday, when they will again be located at 238 Pennsylvania avenue, west, next to Finley's Sport Shop.

Lock expressed appreciation for the cooperation of the local Veterans of Foreign Wars in permitting the use of the room for recruiting headquarters and also for help in securing recruits.

TO BUY STAMPS

Buffalo, N. Y., July 9—(AP)—Baseball writers of the International League, who met before last night's all-star game and perfected an organization of their own, voted to assess each member a 25-cent war stamp every time he enters a press box.
